Hygiene is the only entirely reliable method"*

FEMININE ANTISEPTICS

NEARLY every married couple is anxious to secure the modern and scientific method of Feminine Hygiene. This is particularly true of mothers and of all highly susceptible women and those who have experienced dissatisfaction with other methods. The Lanteen diaphragm offers the most reliable protection known to medical science and is now the prescription universally given by physicians to their patients who must have positive protection.

The Lanteen Brown Cap Diaphragm method is entirely harmless and when used according to the simple illustrated directions contained in each package, it gives the positive and unfailing protection so highly desired, with complete relief from worry and anxiety.

Lanteen is prescribed by physicians or may be purchased from all the independent and chain drug stores. As the name is a coined word, non-suggestive, it may be purchased without the slightest embarrassment. Drug stores will be glad to deliver on your telephone order.

Recommended for All Highly Susceptible Women, Both Young Wives and Mothers

LANTEEN BROWN:—The Cap Diaphragm is the new and most approved method for Feminine Hygiene. Far superior to the older methods of prophylaxis, with their unnatural interference and their occasional failure.

This approved method of Feminine Hygiene provides for the use of an antiseptic jelly with the diaphragm, thus giving double protection and unfailing dependability.

The use of the Cap Diaphragm is simplicity itself, as it is self-locating.

LANTEEN BROWN contains, besides the Cap Diaphragm, a tube of 15 applications of the Lanteen Antiseptic Jelly, which should always be used with the diaphragm.

Complete outfit$4.00
Full and simple directions for use in each package.

An economical method as a diaphragm will last from one to three years. For later jelly requirements use the Lanteen Blue Refill, costing only about 8c per application.

FEMININE ANTISEPTIC JELLY

LANTEEN BLUE:—Large tube of 15 applications, complete with glass nozzle applicator for attachment to tube, with rubber closure and tube key$1.50

LANTEEN BLUE REFILL:—Same large tube of antiseptic jelly, without applicator, recommended for second and all later purchases of jelly, each$1.25

Lanteen Blue is the original and recognized as the premier of all Feminine Antiseptic jellies. Its reliability has been proven in use over a long period of years with a multitude of patients. The formula has ample germicidal potency without being in the slightest irritating, even to sensitive individuals.

WARNING:—No other than the recommended antiseptic jelly should be used with the pure rubber diaphragm; any suppositories or greasy substance or strong douche solutions will quickly deteriorate the pure rubber diaphragms.

The Lanteen Brown Cap Diaphragm and the Lanteen Blue Jelly are guaranteed to be entirely satisfactory to the users, or may be returned to your druggist for prompt cash refund.

Public Opinion is Changing

After many generations of disheartening research in both laboratory and clinic, a solution was found for the medical problem of Feminine Hygiene. When properly applied this leads to happier lives and better health for married couples.

Nearly every married person is interested in the story of Lanteen, its long period of development and trial and now the amazing growth of its popularity throughout North America and abroad.

In case your favorite drug store should not yet be stocked with the Lanteen preparations you need, if you will write the distributors (shown below) the store name and address, mentioning the item you want, they will see that you are promptly supplied through that store.

Medical Science has developed these efficient protectors for womanhood; they are now available through physicians and drug stores throughout nearly all of North America.

The users of these preparations enjoy not only better health, but peace of mind and greater happiness. If individual information is desired consult your family physician and speak with him frankly; you will find him your friend and counsellor on all matters regarding which you desire special information.
