November 20th

Dear Sir,

1894

I hope I may take the liberty of using communications of literary pursuits, though in different lines, as an introduction.

You are to lecture here next Monday. Would you give Mrs. Seawin Smith myself the great pleasure of having you as our guest on the occasion. Your room will be ready,

and a telegram
will be sufficient

notice of your coming.

Yours very truly,

Goldwin Smith
